

Excess E&O coverage for the unique and complex challenges of the managed care industry

Errors and Omissions liability exposures in the Managed Care industry have been constantly evolving since the development of the first HMO plan. With the passage of Health Care Reform legislation, the Managed Care business environment and the exposures associated with all of these changes will continue to challenge Managed Care Organizations for years to come.

All types of Managed Care Organizations need a Managed Care E&O insurance policy with the breadth of coverage designed to address these emerging exposures, provided by a carrier that understands the healthcare industry.
